Dear Bulch,

I am writing this letter as a supplement to the report that I am also filing on this day relative to payment for services provided by Vidrine & La Fleur to the state of Louisiana and any of its political subdivisions.

My wife, Simone C. Dupré, is an attorney with the law firm of Voorhies & Labbé. She is an associate with the firm. She does not have an equity position in the firm, and is not working towards one. Simone is a salaried employee with the firm. While she does not work on or handle any of the litigation files for either of Voorhies & Labbé's state clients, Office of Risk Management and the Louisiana Insurance Guaranty Association, she is paid indirectly or technically at least in part from those clients.

If you need any more details about her work, please let me know and I will provide that information to you.

Sincerely,
